

* Represents a significant difference (95 percent confidence level) from the values or groups to which they are compared.

 Represents a highly significant difference (99 percent confidence level) from the values or groups to which they are compared.